Summary

Mum's Support at Home budget for this quarter is $6,681.60, but no services have been used or charged so far, which means the full amount is still available. There haven't been any hospitalisations in the past year, which is a positive sign. The main thing to keep an eye on is whether services are actually being delivered as planned, since it's unusual to see no activity at all on a Support at Home package. It might be worth checking in with TestCare to confirm that everything is set up correctly and that Mum is getting the care she needs.
