Summary

Nelson's care budget isn't being used at all this quarter, which means he hasn't received any of the support services he's approved for. The good news is he's staying out of hospital and there are no immediate concerns flagged by his provider, but the key thing to watch is whether this gap in services is intentional or whether something's getting in the way. It's worth checking in with Glorious Services to confirm whether Nelson needs help getting started with his support, or if he's simply chosen not to use it at this time. Either way, having a clear conversation now will help make sure he's getting what he needs.
