Summary

Dorothy has used significantly more care support than budgeted this quarter, spending about $5,450 more than expected, which means you'll need to discuss funding options with BlueBerry Care soon. The good news is she's receiving substantial help with 122 services delivered and hasn't needed hospital care in the past year, suggesting her current support level is keeping her well. We've flagged 50 low-level concerns across her care, but none are urgent right now. The main thing to focus on is sorting out the budget overspend quickly so there are no surprises for your family, and perhaps reviewing whether the original budget estimate still fits Dorothy's actual needs.
