Summary

Dorothy's care costs have nearly doubled her quarterly budget, running at 182 percent of what was approved. She's received solid support with 122 services this quarter and hasn't needed hospital stays, which is positive, but the spending overage is the thing you need to address urgently with BlueBerry Care. The low-level anomalies flagged in the data suggest some billing or service recording issues that may be contributing to the extra costs, so it's worth asking the provider to walk you through where the money went. You're doing well by Dorothy in keeping her out of hospital, but getting the finances back on track will help you sustain her care long-term.
