Summary

Dorothy's care costs have run significantly over budget this quarter at nearly double what was planned, which means you'll need to have a conversation with BlueBerry Care about what's driven these extra expenses and whether this pattern is likely to continue. The good news is that Dorothy has received plenty of support with 122 services delivered, and she hasn't needed any hospital visits in the past year, which suggests her care is working well overall. The system has flagged 50 low-level anomalies worth reviewing with the provider, though there are no serious concerns open right now. Before your next planning meeting, I'd suggest getting a clear breakdown from BlueBerry Care about why costs have doubled so you can decide together whether to adjust Dorothy's care plan or budget going forward.
