Summary

Over the past year, Wayly reviewed your parent's care bills and identified 50 potential billing errors, though these appear to have ultimately balanced out to no actual overcharging. While none of these items were formally resolved through a dispute process, the good news is that no money is currently owed beyond what you've already paid. However, it's worth noting that you've invested $468 in the Wayly subscription during this time, so you'll want to consider whether the peace of mind and detailed billing oversight justify that cost for your family's situation going forward.
