

Summary

Dorothy's spending is tracking well at about half her budget so far, which means you have plenty of room to increase her support over the next three months if her needs change. The good news is that her care management services haven't been used yet, so there's capacity there too if you need to tap into coordination help. However, the system has flagged 54 anomalies in her records, and while this might be nothing to worry about, it's worth asking her care coordinator what these are to make sure everything is being recorded correctly. At the current pace, Dorothy should use most or all of her budget by the end of the quarter, which is exactly what you want to see.
