Summary

Dorothy's care costs have nearly doubled what was budgeted this quarter, running at 182% of the approved amount, which means you'll need to discuss the overspend with BlueBerry Care straight away to understand what's driving the extra expenses. The good news is that she's received consistent support with 122 services this quarter and hasn't needed hospital admission in the past year, suggesting her care is helping keep her stable at home. There are some flagged anomalies in the data that are marked as low priority, but it's worth asking BlueBerry Care about these so you know exactly what's contributing to the higher costs and whether this is a one-off or an ongoing pattern. Moving forward, you may need to revisit her care plan with the provider to either adjust the budget to match her actual needs or explore whether some services could be delivered differently.
