Summary

Dorothy's care costs have significantly overrun this quarter at over 180% of budget, which means BlueBerry Care has provided far more support than was originally planned for. While it's wonderful that she received 122 services and avoided hospitalisation, the spending blowout is the critical thing to address urgently with the provider. You'll want to have a straightforward conversation with BlueBerry Care about whether these extra costs reflect a genuine change in Dorothy's needs that should be reflected in a higher approved budget, or whether there's been an error in how services were recorded or charged. The 50 flagged anomalies are relatively minor concerns, but combined with the budget overspend they suggest you should review the details of what services were actually delivered to make sure everything aligns with what Dorothy actually needs.
