Summary

Dorothy's care costs have significantly exceeded her budget this quarter, with spending reaching 182% of what was allocated. This means BlueBerry Care has delivered 122 services that went well beyond the planned amount, and while Dorothy hasn't needed hospital care (which is excellent), it's clear her support needs have grown or changed since the budget was set. The good news is there are no open concerns being flagged by the provider, but the most important thing to focus on right now is working with BlueBerry Care to understand why costs have nearly doubled and whether her care plan needs updating to better reflect what she actually requires. You'll want to have a conversation about whether this spending level is sustainable or if adjustments should be made going forward.
